Mobile Data Evaluation - Business Audit

To evaluate and then introduce mobile data to your business you will need to follow a number of steps, from the initial analysis of work procedures to solution design, supplier selection and implementation. The following chart details a typical implementation project. GPRShelp (Henry Hancock Associates ltd) are able to offer consultancy services in all steps of this process, charged either on a daily rate or per job/deliverable. All consultancy work is usually undertaken under the terms of a confidentiality agreement.

Implementation

You now know what you want to achieve with mobile data with sufficient detail that suppliers are able to quote on your specifications and your company board are confident that your goals can be achieved.

Henry Hancock Associates are again able to offer consultancy services to assist you and to ensure timely successful delivery of your mobile data projects.
